Fund Development for Cornell Cooperative Extension in Fulton and Montgomery Counties continued on its diversified path for 2007-08. County appropriations and state support remained the foundation pieces of CCEFM's funding structure. Clover Combo Classic, Real Men Can Cook and Bi-County Horse Show events augmented by the 4-H Cookie, Candy, Cheese Sale and Town & County sponsorships increased the scope of CCEFM programs. Individual's generous gifts, program-focused grants and contracts supported program development and delivery.

Cornell Cooperative Extension in Fulton and Montgomery Counties provides equal program and employment opportunities.

Contributions in 2007-08

The generosity of contributors like the ones listed below is invaluable to attaining goals and fulfilling the mission of Cornell Cooperative Extension in Fulton and Montgomery Counties. While fundraising efforts are one way to continue our work, monetary donations are the means by which we grow. These gifts allow us to support ongoing educational outreach, form partnerships, market our programs, and increase our ability to improve the human condition in Fulton and Montgomery Counties. We thank our donors for recognizing the value of our programs and supporting our mission through generous monetary gifts. Just as valuable are those goods and services that are donated in-kind from individuals, businesses and organizations. Please see a listing of this year's in-kind donations on our website: www.ccefm.com
